

Abstract

Angle fixing

The invention relates to an angle fixing (10) with which, especially, plate-like components can be fixed to one another at an angle. In order that such an angle fixing can be used universally for a variety of angled positions, it is proposed that the angle fixing (10) be constructed with two limbs (12) that can be pivoted and locked in position relative to one another. (Figure 1)

10049773.011802